Courtroom Defense in Serious Criminal Cases

In each case below, the firm's immediate Intervention, including a complete case investigation and defense evidence, helped reach a successful outcome. The clients faced the risk of long sentences as well as losing child custody and/or professional licensing.

No Formal Sex Offense Charges: Music producer was investigated for groping several performers. Our firm intervened before court and presented a defense position to the government. Informal City Attorney hearing resulted in no court charging at arraignment date.

Vehicular Manslaughter Reduced to Misdemeanor: A commercial truck driver was charged with felony vehicular manslaughter after an unlawful u-turn at night led to the death of another driver. Emphasizing a lack of evidence to support felony charges, including the decedent being high on drugs and alcohol, and being struck by a second car following the first collision, our office secured a reduction to a misdemeanor with no jail time, and community service.

Mental Health Diversion in Burglary Case: A medical professional was charged with multiple counts of commercial burglary. After being diagnosed with several mental disorders, the client received diversion following our firm's successful petitions in both cases.

No Domestic Violence Charges Filed: A client was arrested for felony charges. He was accused of physically abusing his significant other, who suffered a bruised eye following a night of drinking. Our office presented a defense position detailing the lack of sufficient evidence in the case and the accuser's history. The case was rejected for prosecution by the government.

Murder Charge Reduced to Manslaughter: Client charged with murder in a drug transaction dispute. Following litigation in a preliminary hearing, and extensive settlement negotiations, we obtained a plea to a manslaughter charge. Client will be eligible for a youthful parole release.

Juvenile DUI Arrest, No Formal Charges: An underage client was cited and arrested for driving while under the influence of alcohol. Our office presented a comprehensive pre-filing position to the government, resulting in the matter being handled informally through the juvenile department and no court charging.

No Jail Time in "Sexting" with Minor: A peace officer charged with sending sexually explicit messages. Firm reached a settlement involving no jail time and probation. Resolution reached after three years of court proceedings.

Mental Health Diversion in Embezzlement Case: An employee at a fiduciary services agency charged with six counts of grand theft by embezzlement. Following our firm's litigation of a mental health diversion motion, diversion granted and case is set to be dismissed.

Rejection of Criminal Charges in Kidnapping Case: A client was arrested for kidnapping and assaulting her spouse, and posted a very high bail to be released before arraignment. The firm presented a defense position before court emphasizing the lack of evidence needed to support a criminal case. Charges dropped at arraignment.

No Criminal Charging in Prostitution Case: A white-collar professional faced immigration consequences following his arrest for soliciting prostitution. We presented the lead detective a pre-court position citing problems of proof and our client's strong background. No charges filed in court.

Rejection of Filing in Sexual Assault Case: A college student investigated for sexually assaulting / groping classmates. The detective was seeking a DNA swab when our firm retained. Following our firm's pre-court intervention services, case dropped and no DNA search warrant obtained. The defense position highlighted the lack of evidence in the case to substantiate a criminal filing.

No Case Filed at Arraignment: A client was arrested and posted a high bail for unlawful contact with an internet vigilante posing as a minor on an adult website. Our office presented the investigating officer with evidence from prior cases showing the unreliability of the vigilante. The officer opted to hold off on presenting the case to the District Attorney's Office and no charges have been filed.
