Courtroom Defense in Serious Criminal Cases

Our law firm's immediate intervention, including a complete case investigation, helped reach numerous successful outcomes. The clients faced the risk of long sentences as well as losing child custody and/or professional licensing. And most criminal charges were dropped or set for dismissal.

Dismissal of Felony Gun Charges: Financial professional, unfamiliar with California gun laws, charged with multiple felony gun possession violations including assault weapons. At the preliminary hearing, after months of defense presenting its position to the government, the prosecutor agreed to drop all felony crimes. Client accepted a misdemeanor settlement that will be expunged in one year (Long Beach Court)

Dismissal of Felony Assault with Deadly Weapon Case: A client was charged with using a taser against a man who was berating people in a public area. During the preliminary hearing process, our office emphasized the alleged victim's unreliability. The prosecutor decided to completely dismiss the charges (Van Nuys Court)

Sex Offense Allegations Dropped: An engineer was accused of rape by an ex-girlfriend. Our office presented evidence showing the alleged victim's motive to not be truthful. The District Attorney's Office found insufficient evidence to proceed with formal charges (Downtown Court)

Rejection of Felony Charge in Celebrity Domestic Violence Arrest: A well-known artist was accused of battering his domestic partner, in the presence of their child. Our office presented evidence showing doubt about the alleged victim's narrative, and that our client was the true victim. The prosecutor dropped the case, despite the $50,000 bail felony arrest (Northern California)

Diversion Offer in Felony Accessory Prosecution: Northern California business owner charged with being an accessory after the fact, to the co-defendant who discharged a firearm and stalked an adult establishment. Our office emphasized our client's lack of culpability, his strong professional background, lack of criminal record, and the overall weak evidence against our client. The government reduced the felony offense to a misdemeanor. The defense accepted the court's diversion settlement offer, allowing our client to avoid any conviction and to earn a full dismissal in 12 months (San Fernando Court)

No Jail Time in Attempted Murder Case: A client was accused of a near-fatal stabbing at a downtown club and was extradited from Indonesia to face attempted murder charges. The prosecutor sought a no-bail pretrial detention, deeming the client a flight risk. Our law firm secured his release on bail with house arrest. After months of subsequent litigation, our office persuaded the state to drop the attempted murder charge, at which point our client pled to probation and a lesser offense. The client then qualified for a time served sentence, after we argued he is legally entitled to jail credit while being on house arrest as part of bail conditions. (Downtown Court)

Assault with a Felony Deadly Weapon Arrest Dropped: A businessman's adult son accused our client of threatening him with a knife. We presented evidence to the government that our client was defending himself and his wife from his son's physical threats and attacks, following mental health episodes. By the arraignment date, the government chose to drop the prosecution (Van Nuys Court).

Rejection of Charges in Domestic Violence Case: After calling 911, our client was arrested for domestic violence. The firm presented a written position to the government with character evidence, raising reasonable doubt about the arrest. The case against our client was dropped before the arraignment date (LAX Court).

Dismissal of Fraud Charges: A doctor was accused of attempting to bribe an insurance professional. Following months of court, we reached a resolution - the client will receive a full dismissal in 12 months as part of pretrial diversion (Van Nuys Court).

Rejection of Medical Fraud Case after Search Warrants Served: A medical provider was being investigated for providing "unlawful kickbacks." Our office presented proof refuting these claims, and corresponded with multiple case investigators for four years. Criminal case was declined for prosecution, and our client's seized items were returned to him (Los Angeles DA Investigation)

Rejection of Felony Theft Charges: A construction company owner was arrested for felony auto theft after keeping a U-Haul rental beyond the rental date. The City and District Attorney's Offices agreed with the defense position that no crime took place, and did not file formal charges (LAX Court)

Sex Offense Accusation Against Grandfather. Family law litigation leads to a sex abuse report and investigation. Our office presented defense evidence showing reasonable doubt as to the veracity of the claims. Case dropped. (Long Beach Court)

Sting Operation, Attempt to Meet with a Minor Case: Our office represented three separate clients in Orange County and Long Beach Courts regarding their arrests for attempting to meet a minor for lewd purposes. In each case, our office presented evidence to the government raising reasonable doubt as to criminal intent and the lack of reliability of the online vigilante who set up the arrests. No formal charges filed.

Referral to City Attorney Hearing: A college student received a criminal citation for using a fake identification card to access a bar. After our law firm's intervention, the prosecutor agreed to an administrative hearing, allowing our client to avoid charges and keep her record clean. No formal court proceedings (LAX Court).
