YIWU BAIMEI ELECTRONIC COMMERCE
CO., LTD.,

Plaintiff,

v.

THE PARTNERSHIPS AND UNINCORPORATED ASSOCIATIONS
IDENTIFIED ON SCHEDULE “A,”

Defendants.

Case No.: 25-cv-13831

Judge John J. Tharp, Jr.

Magistrate Judge M. David Weisman

MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF PLAINTIFF’S MOTION FOR ENTRY OF DEFAULT PURSUANT TO FED. R. CIV. P. 55(a) AND MOTION FOR FINAL JUDGMENT PURSUANT TO FED. R. CIV. P. 55(b) AS TO CERTAIN DEFENDANTS

Plaintiff Yiwu Baimei Electronic Commerce Co., Ltd. (“Plaintiff”) by and through its undersigned counsel, seeks entry of default and default judgment as to Certain Defendants identified on the Amended Schedule A (collectively, the “Defaulting Defendants”).

I. BACKGROUND AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

1. On November 11, 2025, Plaintiff filed its First Amended Complaint in the instant civil action, alleging copyright infringement (17 U.S.C. §101 et seq.) against the Defaulting Defendants. [Doc. 1].

2. On January 15, 2026, Plaintiff served the Defaulting Defendants with the Complaint. [Doc. 47]. Defaulting Defendants Answers were due on February 5, 2026. Id.

3. The time allowed for the Defaulting Defendants to respond to the Complaint has expired.

4. Plaintiff is informed and believes that the Defaulting Defendants are not considered infants or incompetent persons. See Declaration of William J. Hausman (“Hausman Dec.”) at ¶9.

5. Plaintiff is informed and believes that the Service Members Civil Relief Act does not apply. Id.

6. Plaintiff respectfully requests that an entry of default under Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a) be entered, as well as an order of final judgment under Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(b). Plaintiff respectfully requests for the entry of a final judgment under Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(b) to include an award of statutory damages as authorized by 17 U.S.C. § 504, and a permanent injunction enjoining the Defaulting Defendants from further acts of copyright infringement.

II. SUMMARY OF THE ARGUMENT

Jurisdiction and venue are proper in this court. Plaintiff has met the requirements for default and for an entry of final judgment. Plaintiff is entitled to an award of statutory damages for willful copyright infringement. A high statutory damages award is appropriate and just. A permanent injunction must be granted to prevent any further acts of copyright infringement by the Defaulting Defendants.

III. ARGUMENT

A. Jurisdiction and Venue are Proper in This Court

This Court has original subject matter jurisdiction over the claims in this action pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. § 101, et seq. [Doc. 1 at ¶1]. Venue is proper in this Court under 28 U.S.C. § 1391. Id. at ¶2. This Court may properly exercise personal jurisdiction over Defendants since each of the Defendants directly targets business activities toward consumers in the United States, including Illinois, through at least the fully interactive, commercial Internet stores operating under the Defaulting Defendants Id. at ¶2-3; uBID, Inc. v.

GoDaddy Grp., Inc., 623 F.3d 421, 423-24 (7th Cir. 2010) (without the benefit of an evidentiary hearing, the plaintiff bears only the burden of making a prima facie case for personal jurisdiction; all of plaintiff's asserted facts should be accepted as true and any factual determinations should be resolved in its favor). Through the fully interactive commercial Defendants' Internet Stores, upon information and belief, Illinois residents can purchase products from Defaulting Defendants that are sold and advertised in listings for sale utilizing Plaintiff's registered copyrights without authorization.

1. Plaintiff Meets the Requirements for Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a) Entry of Default

On January 15, 2026, Plaintiff served the Complaint on Defaulting Defendants. [Doc. 47]. Plaintiff is informed and believes that the Defaulting Defendants are not considered infants or incompetent persons. See Hausman Dec. at ¶9. Plaintiff is informed and believes that the Service Members Civil Relief Act does not apply. Id. The time allowed for Defaulting Defendants to respond to the Complaint has expired. Neither Plaintiff nor the Court has granted Defaulting Defendants an extension of time to respond to the Complaint. The Defaulting Defendants have failed to answer or otherwise respond to the Complaint and failed to serve a copy of an Answer or other response upon Plaintiff's attorney of record. This Court should enter default under 55(a).

2. Plaintiff Meets the Requirements for Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(b) Entry of Final Default Judgment

Rule 55(b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure provides for a court-ordered default judgment. A default judgment establishes, as a matter of law, that Defendants are liable to Plaintiff on each cause of action alleged in the complaint. United States v. Di Mucci, 879 F.2d 1488, 1497 (7th Cir. 1989). When the Court determines that a defendant is in default, the factual allegations of the complaint are taken as true and may not be challenged, and the defendants are liable as a matter of law as to each cause of action alleged in the complaint. Black v. Lane, 22 F.3d 1395, 1399 (7th Cir. 1994). Plaintiff served the Complaint on January 15, 2026. [Doc. 47]. The February 5, 2026 deadline set by the Court for Defendants to file an Answer or otherwise respond to the Complaint has passed.

Plaintiff requests an award of statutory damages as authorized by 17 U.S.C. §504(c)(2) for copyright infringement against each of the Defaulting Defendants for use of Plaintiff's copyright in connection with the marketing, advertising, and display of the Hollow Halloween Copyrighted Corks through the Defendants' Internet Stores. Plaintiff also seeks entry of a permanent injunction prohibiting Defaulting Defendants from displaying the Hollow Halloween Copyrighted Works and displaying the copyright works that all assets in Defaulting Defendants' financial accounts operated by Walmart, Paypal, PingPong, LianLian Global, LL Pay U.S., LLC, and Lianlian Yintong Electronic Payment Co. Ltd. ("LianLian"), and Stripe and other financial institutions and any newly identified accounts be transferred to Plaintiff.

Accordingly, Plaintiff having properly set out its claims, as addressed in detail below, entry of default judgment is appropriate.

a. Plaintiff Has Properly Pled a Claim for Copyright Infringement

To establish copyright infringement, Plaintiff is required to prove two elements: "(1) ownership of a valid copyright, and (2) copying of constituent elements of the work that are original." Feist Publications, Inc. v. Rural Tel. Serv. Co., 499 U.S. 340, 349, 111 S.Ct. 1282, 113 L.Ed.2d 358 (1991). Plaintiff has demonstrated its ownership of valid copyrights by attaching to its Complaint and a Declaration, Copyright Registration Nos. VA 2-270-357, VA 2-270-532, VA 2-270-548, VA 2-270-545, VA 2-270-544, VA 2-270-547, VA 2-270-546, VA 2-265-759 ("Hollow Halloween Copyrighted Works"). [Doc. 1-1; Doc. 14-1]. This registration creates a prima facie presumption of validity of a copyright. 17 U.S.C. § 410(c); Runstadler Studios Inc. v. MCM Ltd., P'ship, 768 F. Supp. 1292, 1294-1295 (N.D. Ill. 1991).

Here, Defendants are willfully and deliberately reproducing Plaintiff's Hollow Halloween Copyrighted Works, either in their entirety or in substantially similar form, and are willfully and deliberately distributing copies to the public through their advertisements, marketing, and displays. Plaintiff has proven it has more than a reasonable likelihood of success showing Defendants violated Plaintiff's rights.

3. Plaintiff Is Entitled to an Award of Statutory Damages

“District courts enjoy wide discretion in awarding fees and may consider various factors such as “the difficulty or impossibility of proving actual damages, the circumstances of the infringement, and the efficacy of the damages as a deterrent to future copyright infringement.” Chi-Boy Music v. Charlie Club, 930 F.2d 1224, 1229 (7th Cir. 1991) (citations omitted) “Statutory damages are ‘most appropriate’ when an infringer's nondisclosure makes actual damages uncertain.” Luxottica USA LLC v. The Partnerships, Case No. 14-cv-09061, 2015 WL 3818622 at *2 (N.D. Ill. June 18, 2015) (citing Sara Lee Corp. v. Bags of N.Y., Inc., 36 F. Supp. 2d 161, 165 (S.D.N.Y. 1999)). Damage awards limited to lost profits are typically ineffective deterrents because “[a] counterfeiter must fear more than just having to turn over his ill-gotten gains to the rightful owners.” Lorillard Tobacco Co. v. S & M Cent. Serv. Corp., Case No. 03-cv-4986, 2015 WL 2534378 at *6 (N.D. Ill. Nov. 5, 2004). Here, none of the Defaulting Defendants have appeared and/or provided Plaintiff with information from which Plaintiff might determine Defendants' sales. Thus, an award of statutory damages is particularly appropriate in the instant case.

Statutory damages may be awarded not less than $750 or more than $30,000 per work for non-willful infringement. 17 U.S.C. § 504(c)(1). The Court in its discretion may increase an award for statutory damages up to $150,000.00 when infringement was committed willfully. 17 U.S.C. § 504(c)(2). A defendant's intent can be of probative value for establishing willfulness, triggering an enhanced statutory award. "[A] finding of willfulness is justified if the infringer knows that its conduct is an infringement or if the infringer has acted in reckless disregard of the copyright owner's right." Wildlife Express Corp. v. Carol Wright Sales, Inc., 18 F.3d 502, 511 (7th Cir. 1994) (internal quotation marks omitted). Although "evidence that notice had been accorded to the alleged infringer before the specific acts found to have constituted infringement occurred is perhaps the most persuasive evidence of willfulness, it is not the only way that willfulness can be established." Video Views, Inc. v. Studio 21, Ltd., 925 F.2d 1010, 1021 (7th Cir. 1991), overruled on other grounds, Fogerty v. Fantasy, Inc., 510 U.S. 517, 521 n.8 (1994). Rather, because "one who undertakes a course of infringing conduct may neither sneer in the face of [a] copyright owner nor hide its head in the sand like an ostrich," ibid., courts may consider a variety of other factors when evaluating willfulness, including "evidence that the defendant ignored the plaintiff's notices about copyright protection ... and passed the matter off as a nuisance," Wildlife Exp. Corp., 18 F.3d at 512.

4. Defendants' Acts of Copyright Infringement Were Willful

As alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint, the Defendants created numerous Defendant Internet Stores utilizing the Hollow Halloween Copyrighted Works. [Doc. 1 at ¶¶29-30, 33]. Plaintiff further alleged that Defendants' conduct was a willful violation of the stated cause of action. Id. at ¶¶33, 43, 50, 54, 57. Here, given the Defendants' default, the allegations of the complaint are taken as true and a finding of willfulness is therefore warranted. See Scholz Design, Inc. v. Campbell

Signature Homes, LLC, No. 08-1087 at *2 (C.D. Ill. Feb. 12, 2009) (“The Court finds that Campbell’s copyright infringement was knowing, willful and intentional, because Scholz made this allegation in its Complaint.”); Kinsey v. Jambow, Ltd., 76 F. Supp. 3d 708, 712 (N.D. Ill. 2014). Even without reliance upon Defendants’ default, it is clear that Defaulting Defendants’ copyright infringement was willful. “Willful infringement may be attributed to the defendant’s actions where he had knowledge that his conduct constituted infringement or where he showed a reckless disregard for the owner’s rights.” Lorillard Tobacco Co., 2015 WL 2534378 at *7 (citation omitted). Defaulting Defendants clearly had knowledge that their activities constituted infringement or at least displayed a reckless disregard for Plaintiff’s rights in its registered copyrights.

This Court and others in this judicial district routinely find infringement willful when defendants default. See Yiwu Baimei Electronic Commerce Co., Ltd. v. The Partnerships and Unincorporated Associates Identified on Schedule A; Case No. 24-cv-8704 (N.D. Ill. Dec. 16, 2024) (Jenkins, J.) (awarding $50,000 in statutory damages per defaulting defendant); Case No. 24-cv-2131 (N.D. Ill. July 12, 2024) (Cummings, J.) (awarding $150,000 for willful copyright infringement); Case No. 24-cv-8135 (N.D. Ill. Dec. 30, 2024) (Cummings, J.) (awarding $20,000 in statutory damages per defaulting defendant); Case No. 24-cv-8702 (N.D. Ill. Dec. 19, 2024) (Rowland, J.) (awarding $150,000 in statutory damages per defaulting defendant); Epic Games, Inc., v. chibidiyashangmaoyouxiangongsi, Case No. 23-cv-00854 (N.D. Ill. July 26, 2023) [Doc. 130 at p. 42] (J. Gottschall) (“Pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1117(c)(2), Plaintiff is awarded statutory damages from each of the Defaulting Defendants in the amount of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) for willful use of counterfeit reproductions of the Fortnite Trademarks in connection with the sale of products through at least Defaulting Defendants’ Seller Aliases.”); Bad Vibes

Forever, LLC v. The Partnerships and Unincorporated Associations Identified on Schedule A, Case No. 22-cv-02590 (N.D. Ill. August 22, 2019) [Doc. 34] (Tharp, J.).

5. Plaintiff's Ongoing Investment in Marketing and Promotion and Brand Protection Efforts Justify a High Statutory Damages Award

Courts may also take into account the value of a plaintiff's brand and the efforts taken to protect, promote, and enhance that brand. Lorillard Tobacco Co., 2015 WL 2534378 at *6. Plaintiff's success of the registered copyrights have resulted in significant infringement by individuals and entities who unlawfully use the Hollow Halloween Copyrighted Works and Plaintiff's goodwill. [Doc. 9 ¶14, 28-30]. To date, Plaintiff has had to bring twenty-eight other separate suits against Defendants to police its registered copyright images. See [Doc. 12].

6. A High Statutory Damages Award is Justified Due to the Acts of Infringement Having Taken Place on the Internet

Many Courts, in this district and elsewhere, have awarded high damages where the predicate acts of infringement took place on the internet. See Monster Energy Company v. Jing, et al., Case No. 15-cv-00277 at *7 (N.D. Ill. July 6, 2015) (“The internet platform defendants used, AliExpress.com, is a busy website that provides the potential to reach a vast customer base.”); Luxottica Group S.p.A. v. Hao Li, et al., Case No. 16-cv-00487 at *16 (N.D. Ill. Feb. 15, 2017) (“But even putting aside any evidence of defendant selling multiple products through multiple online sales platforms, defendant can reach a worldwide customer base on eBay alone.”); Coach, Inc. v. Ocean Point Gifts, Case No. 09-4215 (JBS) at *14-15 (D.N.J. Jun. 14, 2010) (finding high damage awards in counterfeit cases were “due in part to the wide market exposure that the Internet can provide”).

In addition to the fact that the internet permits wide market exposure, as Plaintiff set out in its Complaint, third party service providers like those used by Defendants do not adequately subject new sellers to verification and confirmation of their identities, allowing Defendant Internet Stores to routinely use false or inaccurate names and addresses when registering with these e-commerce platforms.” [Doc. 1 at ¶27] (citation omitted). This point is particularly well illustrated here where Plaintiff, a small but growing retailer attempting to establish its brand and secure market share, has been persistently plagued by overseas infringers doing business on the same platform. The audacity of infringers in attempting to deceive courts as to their identity and avoid liability has also been demonstrated in this judicial district. See Camelbak Products LLC v. The Partnerships and Unincorporated Associations Identified On “Schedule A”, Case No. 20-cv-01544 (N.D. Ill. January 5, 2021) [Doc. 105 at 3] (“[T]he Court does not believe that the identification card submitted in support of [defendant]’s motion to vacate the default judgment is the actual identification card for the person who owns and operates [defendant]. It is either a fake identification card, or it is someone else’s identification card.”).

As discussed herein, supra subsection (4), the extent of damage to Plaintiff is significant, as Plaintiff has had to bring twenty-eight other suits against Defendants to police its registered intellectual property. See [Doc. 12]. Without sufficient deterrence, Plaintiff will not be able to regain control over the unbridled infringement and damage to its goodwill.

7. The Award of Statutory Damages Should be Sufficient to Compensate Plaintiff and to Deter Further Acts of Infringement

When the infringement is willful, the statutory damages award may be designed to penalize the infringer and to deter future violations. See Illinois Bell Tel. Co. v. Haines & Co., 905 F.2d 1081, 1089 (7th Cir. 1990); Bulgari, S. P.A. v. Xiaohong, Case No. 15-cv-05148 at *5 (N.D. Ill., October 15, 2015) (Coleman, J.) (“This Court’s award, moreover, must be adequate to deter future infringement, intentional or unintentional, by the defendant and others similarly situated.”). A high statutory damages award will serve to both compensate Plaintiff and to deter the Defaulting Defendants and others who are either now or may in the future infringe upon the registered works. Plaintiff has previously been awarded statutory damages against defaulting defendants in this District under a similar fact pattern. See Yiwu Baimei Electronic Commerce Co. Ltd. v. The Partnerships, Individuals and Unincorporated Associations Identified on Schedule "A", Case No. 23-cv-13761 (N.D. Ill. Mar. 1, 2024) [Doc. 55] (Hunt, J.); Case No. 23-cv-16861 (N.D. Ill. Apr. 15, 2024) [Doc. 56] (Tharp., J.); Case No. 24-cv-1924 (N.D. Ill. July 1, 2024) [Doc. 56] (Valderrama, J.); Case No. 24-cv-02131 (N.D. Ill. July 12, 2024) [Doc. 33] (Cummings, J.); Case No. 24-cv-2540 (N.D. Ill. June 6, 2024) [Doc. 51 at 6] (Kendall, J.) (awarding $200,000 and $150,000 in statutory damages as to trademark and copyright infringement, respectively); Case No. 24-cv-2743 (N.D. Ill. Dec. 9, 2024) [Doc. 43 at 6] (Coleman, J.) (awarding $200,000 and $150,000 in statutory damages as to trademark and copyright infringement, respectively); Sega Corporation, et al. v. The P'ships, et al., Case No. 25-cv-02585 (N.D. Ill. June 12, 2025) [Doc. 55] (Alonso, J.).

8. Plaintiff Is Entitled to a Permanent Injunction Preventing Further Acts Of Infringement of Its Registered Copyrights

In addition to the foregoing relief, Plaintiff respectfully requests entry of a permanent injunction enjoining Defaulting Defendants from infringing or otherwise violating Plaintiff's registered copyrights. "Without a permanent injunction, the defendants will likely continue their infringing conduct..." Kinsey v. Jambow, Ltd., 76 F. Supp. 3d 708, 714 (N.D. Ill. 2014). Further, prevention of additional acts of infringement of Plaintiff's registered copyrights serve the public interest. See Miyano Mach., USA, Inc. v. MiyanoHitec Mach, Inc., 576 F. Supp. 2d 868, 889 (N.D. Ill. 2008) ("The public interest is generally served by the enforcement of trademark laws as such laws prevent confusion among and deception of consumers ...") (citation omitted). This Court and others in this judicial district routinely grant permanent injunctive relief to prevailing plaintiffs in copyright cases.

9. The Court Should Authorize Immediate Execution Upon this Final Judgment Order

The Temporary Restraining Order [Doc. 31] was necessary to prevent Defendants from modifying registration data or from moving assets to thwart the Plaintiff's ability to recover damages. To the extent that it may be necessary for Plaintiff to utilize state law collections devices, Plaintiff respectfully requests that the Court dissolve the stay on execution contained in and as authorized by Fed. R. Civ. P. 62(a). See Fed. R. Civ. P. 62, Advisory Committee's Notes (2018) ("Amended Rule 62(a) expressly recognizes the court's authority to dissolve the automatic stay .... One reason for dissolving the automatic stay may be a risk that the judgment debtor's assets will be dissipated.").

IV. CONCLUSION

Plaintiff respectfully requests that the Court enter default judgment against each Defaulting Defendant and award statutory damages in the amount of one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) for willful infringement pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 504(c) and enter a permanent injunction order prohibiting Defaulting Defendants from using Plaintiff's federally registered Hollow Halloween Copyrighted Works without authorization. A proposed order, embodying the relief requested herein and identifying Defendants to be dismissed with prejudice, is submitted herewith.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff requests that the Clerk enter default, as authorized by Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a) and Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(b) against Defaulting Defendants as identified on the attached Schedule A.

Respectfully Submitted this 17th of February, 2026.
